

1.0 CE will be available for Nurses, Social Workers & Administrators

Working With Families to Create an Effective Care Team

Tuesday, November 17, 2020

5:30 pm - 6:00 pm Registration & Dinner

6:00 pm – 7:00 pm Presentation

Located at
Mannino's Italian Kitchen

2158 Jericho Turnpike, Commack, NY 11725

Moving a loved one into long-term care is perhaps one of the most difficult decisions a family caregiver may be faced with. There is no set of directions on how to do this and there are no guidelines on how to bridge the gap between health care professional staff and family caregivers needing to be a part of the care process. This program will discuss this relationship between family and health care teams from both sides. Health care professionals who attend this program will be able to:

1. Discuss 3 considerations of our own views that affect how we work with families
2. Discuss current facts and figures about Alzheimer's and related dementia disorders
3. Define who the caregivers are and the decision making process for placement
4. Discuss 2 ways to help families adjust to the move to long-term care
5. Discuss 3 ways to actively engage the family in the care team

Presented By:

Amy Matthews

Amy Matthews is a consummate champion for people suffering with Alzheimer's Disease or some other form of cognitive impairment. A skilled professional in the area of dementia care, she capped off her thirteen-year career with the Greater New Jersey Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association serving as Associate Director for Education and Training and currently works as a Dementia Coach with Engaging Alzheimer's LLC. In this role, Amy has the opportunity to apply her wide range of experience and diverse skill set in helping families and professionals navigate the intricate process of caring for those with dementia.

Please RSVP by November 13th to Commack@artismgmt.com or 631.343.7942

1131 Jericho Turnpike • Commack, NY 11725
www.artisseniorliving.com

 An Equal Opportunity Employer-M/F/D/V

